Haili/Kapi'olani intersection will be four-way stop

The intersection of Haili Street and Kapi'olani Street will be converted to an all-way stop by the County next week.

Currently, the intersection is a two-way stop with motorists on Kapi'olani Street required to stop. Once stop signs are installed on Haili Street, all motorists shall be required to stop before proceeding through the intersection. Motorists are reminded to follow the rules of the road and whichever vehicle comes to the intersection first has the right of way. If vehicles approach the intersection at the same time, right of way is given to the vehicle on the right.

In anticipation of the new conversion from a two-way to a four-way intersection, zig zag lines will be painted on all four streets. Zig zag lines capture the attention of motorists who slow down to look at them when approaching the four-way stop. On Haili Street the words, "stop ahead," will be painted on to the street.

Work is to start and be completed the week of May 12. Police officers will be present to direct and monitor traffic during construction.
